Society News

As you are no doubt aware Eliot saw a record turnout for the November election and so did we at our table! Along with our own publications we featured the donations of books by Society member Helen Goransson and Jim Staples, giving many new residents a great selection of reading material about our history. We also offered the town flags for pre-sale and hopefully we can get them printed as many people were excited about getting them. In addition, the 2nd grade teachers and children produced several times for sale with the proceeds going to our educational programs at for the #8 Schoolhouse. Notecards, featuring the artwork of the students, figured soaps, homemade shoulder bags and aprons, and homemade strawberry sauce went quickly netting us over $300! We extend our sincere thanks for their contribution and we are looking forward to our continued collaboration this year. Also, a huge thank you to Jan Cerabona and Debbie Scribner who manned our booth. We all had a really great time talking with people.

Helen Goransson, Jan Cerabona and myself, with help from Anne Shisler, submitted a grant to the Horizon Foundation. We should be hearing if we have received the grant by our December meeting. The grant was written, asking for monies to be used to supplement the educational programs that we host in collaboration with the 2nd grade teachers for their Eliot history curriculum. The teachers have also submitted their own grant request to another foundation and should hear those results soon also.

President Paul Johnson has been talking with the town manager and the budget committee about our monetary request to the town for the coming year. We will be including monies for software to track and catalogue Eliot's cemeteries. The database would help the public work department keep track of the state of our cemeteries as they continue the work of caring for the gravesites of veterans and, because the information would be online, people could look up a cemetery and see pictures of the cemeteries and of the stones.

The Society would take responsibility for creating and updating the database for the town using the material that has already been gathered in the updating of John Frost's Record Book.

On Eliot Festival Day Eric Christian was recently host to David and Cheryl Gray of Arizona. Cheryl is a direct descendant of Capt. William Leighton who settled in Kittery in the mid-17th century. They were in town for a few days and looking for a local historian to show them any known family cemeteries, lands where the family lived and any other information that is known about Capt. William Leighton. Eric met up with them at Frosts-Tufts Park and from there went down Old Road and visited the old Parish Cemetery, where he surmises William and some of the early Leightons are buried, and showed them the homesite of William Leighton (William Everett's Tavern) and adjacent lands of some of his descendants (site of the town's first library). They then traveled up to Goodwin Road where his grand-son Tobias Leighton, Sr.

(1701-1748) was granted 118 acres of land and visited the Samuel Leighton cemetery. Eric, who once lived on some of the Leighton lands shared with them his knowledge of the family. They Grays were very appreciative of the tour and sent to us a very generous contribution.

Although the grave of Capt. William Leighton and his wife Katherine (Frost) are not marked in the Parish cemetery, it is probable that they and members of their family are buried here, it being the earliest Parish cemetery and "just around the corner from" their early church site. There are several stones for later generations of the family.

The Eliot Fire Department's thermal imaging camera fundraiser is well underway. They are seeing to raise $25,000 to purchase 9 thermal imaging cameras. Currently they only have one camera that they purchased with donations from a previous fundraiser years earlier. Their hope is to purchase 7 for every riding position on Engine's 4 and 3 and two for officer spot. Our volunteer fire department would appreciate any amount you can donate to the Eliot Firefighters Association. You can send your contributions or make a donation through their website - http://www.eliotfire.com/Thermal_Imager_Donations.html
